Terms and conditions

- Confirmation of a place is at the discretion of Mike Brady, and that full payment or a local authority purchase order number is required in order to secure your place.
- Cancellations more than 30 days before the course starts incur an administration fee of £100.
- Cancellations less than 30 days before the course start date only partial course refunds are possible.
- Students are entitled to a refund for all parts of the courses that they are prevented from attending because of government public health measures.
- By attending, students confirm that they know of no medical reasons why they should not participate in any of the activities listed here: use of tools and green woodwork, shelter and team building activities, woodland conservation tasks, fire lighting and cooking.
- For students qualifying at Level 8 only, students undertake to ensure that the necessary insurance cover, PVG checks and Outdoor First Aid cover are in place before running their 8-week practice Forest School programme. Please note that it is your responsibility to find a suitable group of learners and location to carry this practice programme, and at least one other responsible adult to work with; Mike Brady does not provide placements.
- For students qualifying at Level 8 only, students understand that delivery assessments beyond a 15-mile radius of your woodland training venue, or a 30-mile radius of Hamilton will incur an additional charge of £0.45 per mile, plus a discretionary charge for travel time above 1.5 hours round trip or £25/hour. We do use other assessors spread throughout Scotland so they may be nearer to you. We can also arrange video assessments but prefer in-person assessments.
- For students finishing at levels 6 or 5 only, students understand that they must carry out a 3-session block of assisting (if L6) or 1-session observation (if L5) with a qualified Forest School leader. Students understand that it is their responsibility to find a suitable Forest School to carry this out; Mike Brady does not provide placements.
- Students undertake to comply with the FSTC Student code of conduct as follows:

Student code of conduct

- Barring unexpected circumstances (including Covid 19), students are expected to attend all the course elements and fully complete the training according to the timetable. Students agree to commit the time to completing the coursework elements of the training, in their own time where necessary.
- Students are expected to comply with Scottish government advice and guidance on staying safe and protecting others from Covid 19 during face to face outdoor training sessions, and with any course-specific guidance on measures for avoiding close contact, and avoiding transmission of Covid 19 via aerosol and shared contact points. Students will be asked to leave face-to-face outdoor training sessions if they don't comply and may not be able to finish their qualification. No refund will be due in this case.
- FSTC course materials and resources (including video recordings, photographs and handouts) are for the sole use of FSTC students and students are not permitted to share, copy or distribute them in any way.
- Students are expected to behave appropriately during the training. Some behaviours are described below that would constitute inappropriate behaviours:
  - Cheating and Plagiarism (presenting the following as own work: materials that is directly copied from the internet, a learning resource, or other past or present students' work)
  - Continuing poor attendance or punctuality without an acceptable explanation
  - Behaviour which is disruptive or offensive to staff and/or other students, including sexual harassment
  - Behaviour likely to bring the tutor into disrepute
  - Academic neglect, poor attitude and working at a consistently poor standard and / or not completing work on time
